

Things I love

... I have been a believer of the oxygen facial craze since my first one about five years ago. The results are immediate and skin looks plump and lush.

There are so many different options and price points out there that you should be able to find one that suits you. I recently tried the Intraceuticals Infusions facial at Nordstrom and loved it.

The treatment delivers specially formulated serums that work deep within the skin via pressurized oxygen to transform each layer, inside out. And I really love that I can extend the treatment's results at home with Intraceuticals Rejuvenate Daily Serum ...

