Bressie may sing that you can't stay young forever, but he's wrong. And if you think airbrushed photos (or plastic surgery) are the only way to erase those pesky wrinkles then you'd be mistaken too.

There's a closely guarded secret in celebrity circles that's just arrived on Irish shores, and it's the ultimate beauty fix and treat for brides-to-be. Intraceuticals Infusions use therapeutic-grade oxygen and Hyaluronic Acid, an ingredient naturally found in the skin, to deliver specialised active serums to the skin that hydrate and plump in a way no other treatment can.

Unlike any other treatment it's gentle enough to have on the day of your wedding and will leave your skin fresher, firmer and more flawless. Results intensify in the following hours post treatment and the therapist can do one half of your face at a time so you can see how immediate and instant the results are. Not only will everything seem lifted, smoother and firmer, but your skin will glow with radiance and fine lines will seem magically erased in an instance.

Eva Longoria and Katie Perry both agree the treatment is essential before any performance or major event, while Victoria Beckham and Naomi Campbell have gone public with their praise too. Many of Hollywood's top make-up artists swear by Intraceuticals Infusions too, as it's an ideal way to prep the skin for make-up application.

Personally, I couldn't believe the impact from just one gentle session. It was like looking at a younger, Photoshopped version of myself! More effective than a facial and less invasive than a procedure, an Intraceuticals Infusion instantly and dramatically breathes new life into your skin. It may seem pricy, at €150 a session, but if I could only ever have one more beauty treatment it would be an Intraceuticals Infusion.

Exclusively available from Revive Medico, Milltown Road, Dublin 6. Tel: (01) 260 4781, the treatment costs €150 per session and a course of 6, including €300 worth of Intraceuticals products, costs €800. www.revive.ie
