

How I keep my skin glowing...

This week has been a whirlwind of events, and that means having my makeup done more than normal. To make sure my skin is hydrated and cleansed of toxins I go to Carasoin Spa in Los Angeles to give my skin back the dewey glow and overall radiance we all crave!

The facial I'm obsessed with is the Intracuticals Oxygen Facial. Infusions have emerged as the premier therapeutic grade oxygen system in the world of professional skincare. The system delivers serums composed of Antioxidants, Amino Peptides and Hyaluronic Acid to the skin through therapeutic oxygen to immediately super hydrate the skin and leaves you looking fresh and glowing!

Here's a video that does a better job explaining it than I ever could:

Enjoy!

xo

Stacy

About Carasoin:

The Carasoin Day Spa offers a comprehensive range of face & body spa treatments in a sophisticated yet tranquil setting, conveniently nestled amongst the premier boutiques of Robertson Blvd, in the heart of Los Angeles.

Carasoin (ka-ras'wan) The combination of two French words that embody the principles and philosophies of the CARASOIN spa; to revitalise your skin, body and soul whilst creating an experience that leaves you feeling exquisite.

Caress + Soigner = Carasoin

For more information please visit: <http://www.carasoin.com/treatments/>

USA, January 2011