BOOBOO STEWART:

"SETH" IS THE PEACEMAKER BETWEEN WEREWOLVES AND VAMPIRES

What can you tell us about your character "Seth" in "The Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn"?

My character is kind of like the peacemaker between the shape shifters and the vampires. He just wants everyone to get along.

The movie is coming out this month, what are you excited the most for about it?

I am excited for all my fans to see it. They haven't seen me since the first movie came out. But, they've been waiting to see me so I'm really excited about it!

How was the experience of working on such a huge movie knowing that a big audience out there is waiting for it?

It's pretty awesome that people are excited for the movie to come out. I'm really just happy to be part of it.

Is the experience different from shooting any normal movie?

Yeah, most certainly, the set is so much bigger than anything I've ever been on. There were so many people working - it was really intense.

What are the most special memories you had on set? or any special off-screen moment between you and the cast?

I think one of the coolest moments was when I met Bill Condon. It was so nice, when I was first going to set to go to makeup (I wasn't even working yet) and Bill Condon came up and introduced himself. It was really cool.

Who from the cast is the closest to you?

We haven't all been able to hang out a lot because everyone is doing their own things. But, I talked a lot with Chaske Spencer who plays Sam and is the leader of the wolf pack.
